THE CORE FIVE PROTOCOLS (CHEAT-SHEET)

Of Systems Neuromechanics

For Covert Machine Regulation and Maintenance:

Visual Anchor, Information Blackout, Administrative Clarity, Mirrored Compliance, and Controlled Illusion

VISUAL ANCHOR PROTOCOL: Decouple eye contact to block their micro-expression tracking software. Lock your gaze onto neutral, physical objects past the subject's head to decouple eye contact. This blocks their micro-expression tracking software from reading your central nervous system or scanning your facial muscles for emotional data.

INFORMATION BLACKOUT: Cut off all raw environmental data regarding your thoughts, feelings, and schedules. Drop an absolute communication void regarding your thoughts, schedule, and emotions. Cut off all raw environmental data inputs. A hyper-vigilant tracking system cannot build traps without raw environmental data.

ADMINISTRATIVE CLARITY: Drop brief, factual dead ends using a flat, clinical, monotone Cashier Voice. Deliver brief factual dead ends, completely filtering out all emotional arguments. Never Justify, Argue, Defend, or Explain. The J.A.D.E. Filter is a communication firewall used to handle highly defensive, manipulative, or high-conflict individuals.

MIRRORED COMPLIANCE: Keep all interactions strictly limited to a basic, polite, and sterile corporate roommate baseline. Match only the bare minimum of household logistics, offering absolute zero emotional texture, personal data, or conversational enthusiasm.

CONTROLLED ILLUSION: Manage rewards behind a strict ledger of manual labor and Cash On Delivery (make them pay up front). Let their own pride finance your absolute privacy and freedom by treating the subject strictly like a functional domestic appliance. Frame all rewards (like shared meals or watching television together) behind a strict ledger of manual labor. Let his pride believe he is the leader, while his own self-preservation reflex finances your domestic sanctuary.
